1940 PRIZE GLADIOLUS STOCK

Wentworth Gardens

Wentworth Seedling

MADRID (Wentworth, 1940, Exhibition, 85 days.)

Great improvements have been made in Gladiolus in the past few years and all indications show the varieties of the future will be even greater. MADRID is a variety of the future, for though we have bloomed it long enough to know its great worth and dependability, there has not been time to build a large stock. However, it's too good to keep from you longer, therefore with our sincere recommendation we present MADRID.

The color of MADRID is an attractive true red, with the color tone shading lighter in the throat, giving great depth to each floret. This is the red you have been searching for in gladiolus. Its mechanics are: five-foot spikes always straight and very sturdy, eighteen to twenty buds, broad blue-green foliage with eight to twelve wide open deep-throated blooms open at a time, ruffled, florets five inches across in perfect placement. These facts are derived from our field tests where no extra care, fertilization or irrigation are given. MADRID will respond even better to additional cultivation. Tests have proven it to be resistant to disease. See page 15 for price. Grown and tested under Wentworth Seedling No. 1.

How They're Grown

PLANTING

Great care is given to all operations in the culture of Wentworth Garden Corms to assure you maximum quality. Planting is done by furrowing two trenches at a time. The stock is then dropped by hand and set up in correct growing position. By using hand labor we are able to firm each root base into the ground, giving better root growth and eliminating misformed bulbs caused by crowding.

CULTIVATION

Two crops, one bulbs and the other weeds, cannot be grown in the same field at the same time. Our fields are always clean of weeds. A two-row tractor cultivator is used to obtain four results: to eliminate weeds in the center between the rows, to obtain deep mulch cultivation and to conserve moisture, to hill up the growing plants and to smother the young weeds starting growth between plants. The success of this is proven by the fact that only twice during the season must we go through the fields with a hoe.

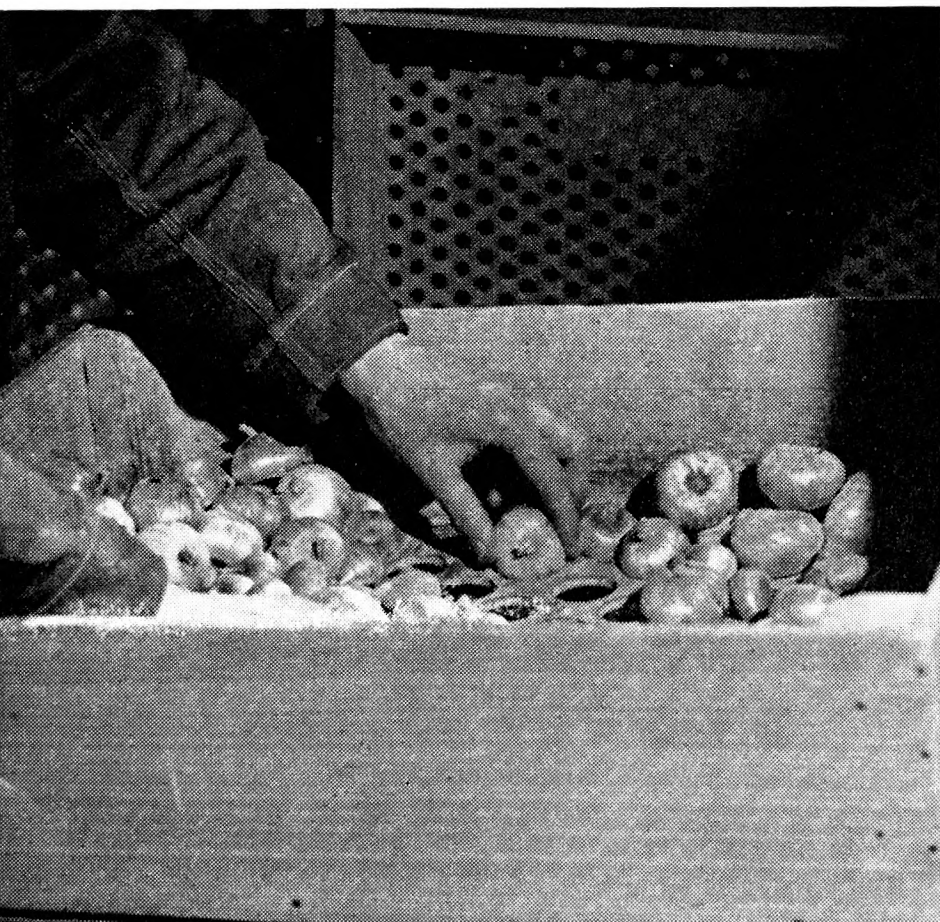

HARVEST AND STORAGE

Until corms have cured they must be handled with great care or they will bruise, therefore stock is lifted by hand, topped close to the corm and placed into pails, then into our two-foot-square screen bottom storage trays. These trays are built to allow easy circulation of air which is an essential in correct storage. As soon as corms are ready to be cleaned, i. e., when the old bulb and roots break out easily, this is done and then they are graded to size. Our graders are cut one-eighth inch over size to allow for any shrinkage that might occur.

PROTECTION

Our hand labor, though costly, has proven itself of value to me as a seller and to you as a consumer. This combined with thorough cyanide-fumigation, corrosive sublimate dipping at planting time, correct storage temperature and moisture control will make WENTWORTH GARDEN Gladiolus of double importance and value to you.

- Complete cultural directions will be included in each shipment.

Kinyon Hybridized

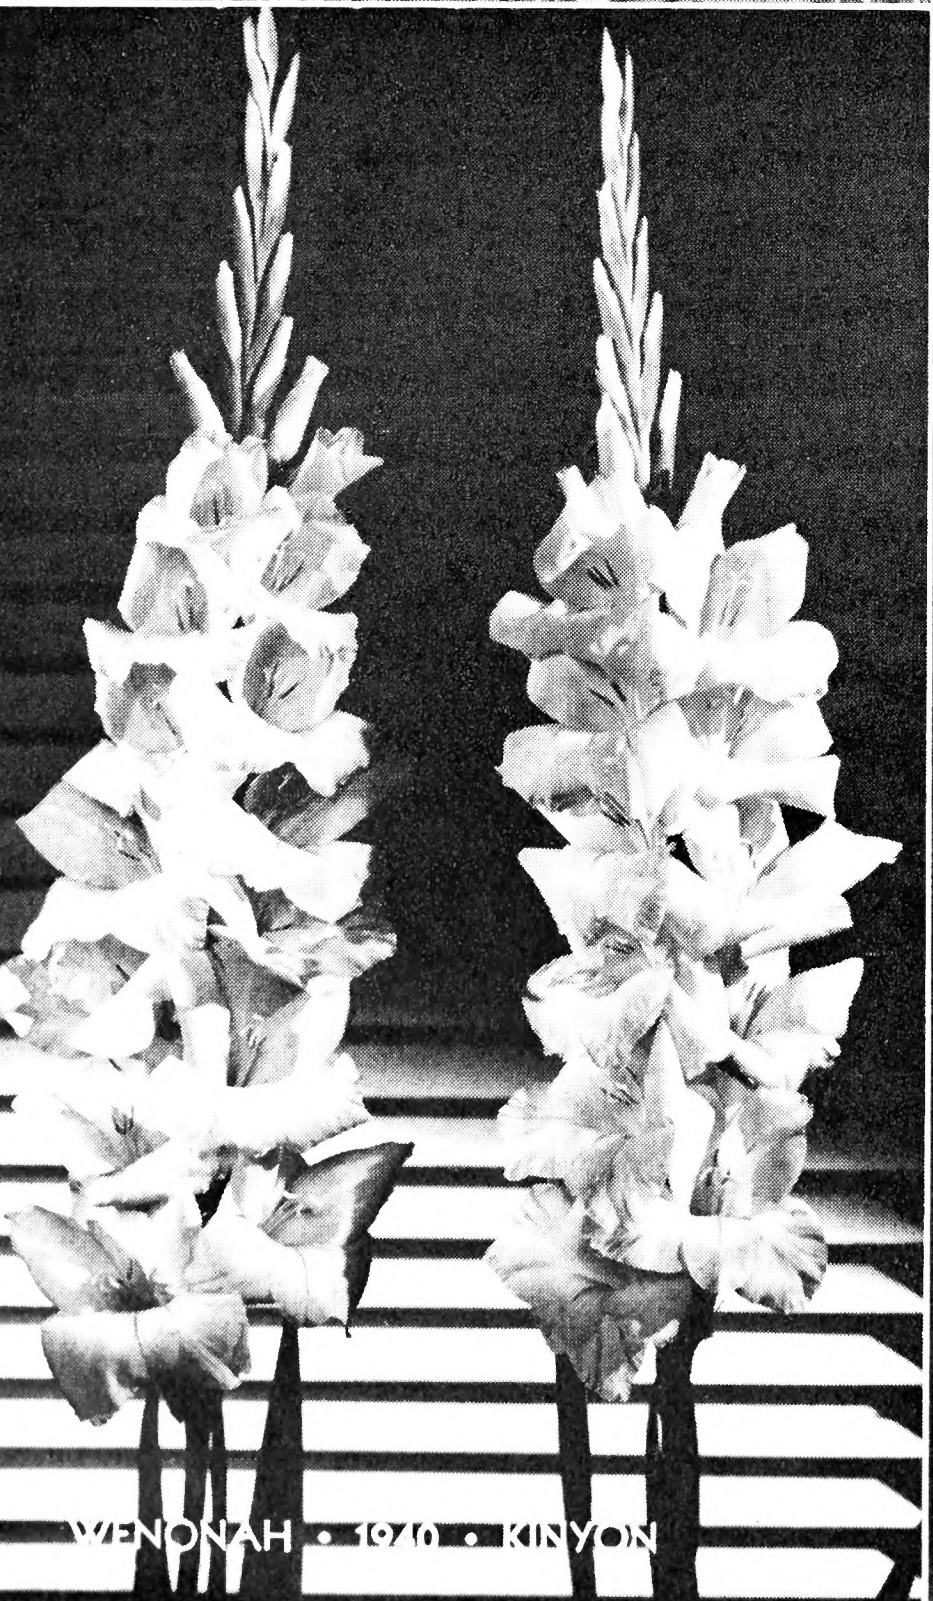

KINYON Far North in Michigan on a cut-over section of Gladwin County is the Kinyon farm of about six hundred acres. Back in the early Twenties a few Gladiolus corms were given to Mrs. Kinyon by a friend who knew of her love for flowers. From these few gift bulbs and their flowers, seed was saved and her start as a hybridist began. Since that time through careful study of parents and methods, her aim, the improvement of Gladiolus, which is the ultimate objective of all hybridists, has been obtained. Out of many thousands of her seedlings only twenty-five selected varieties have been chosen as her contribution to the improvement of Gladiolus.

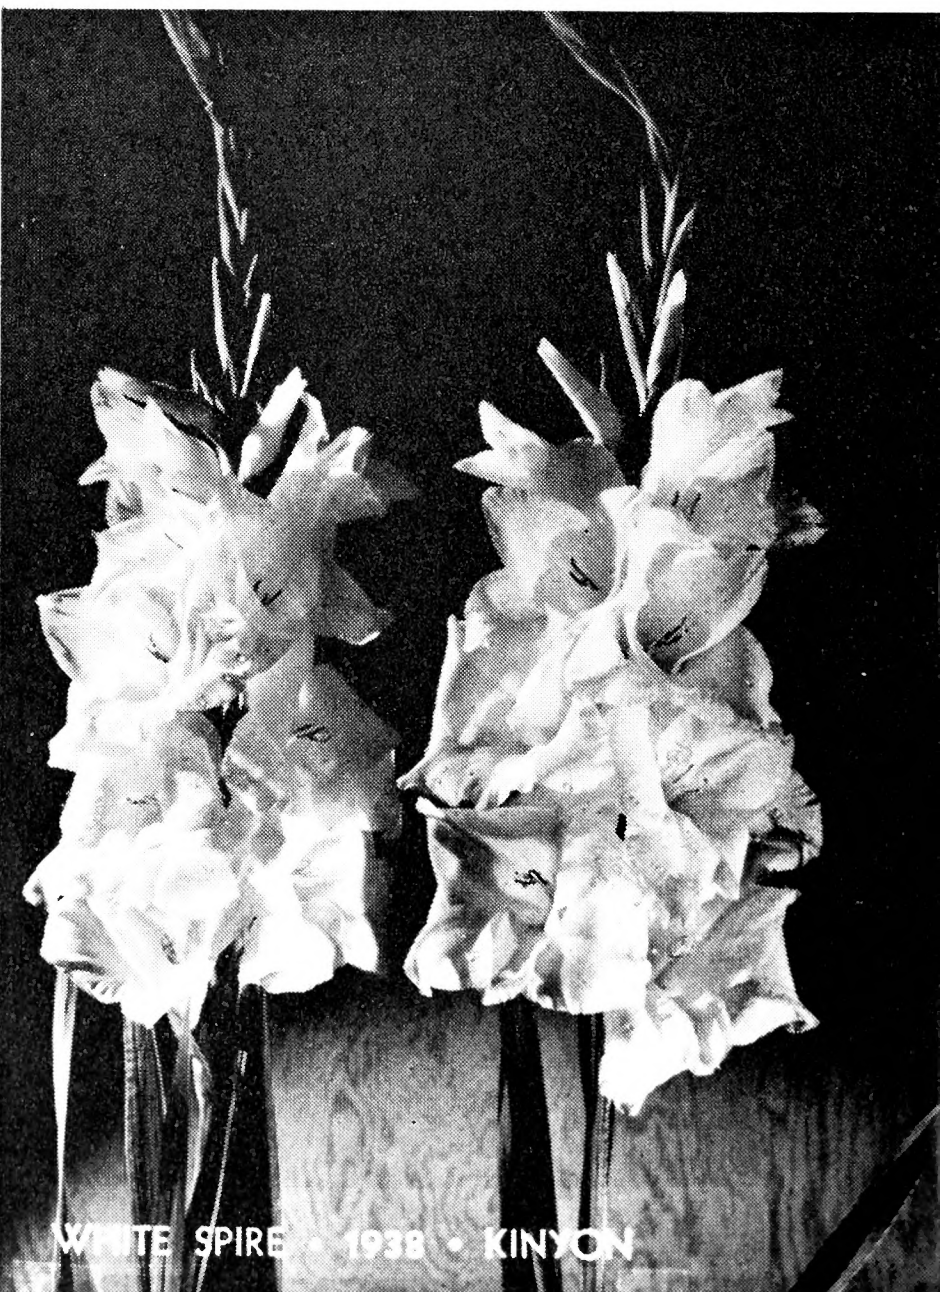

WENTWORTH You who receive this catalog are interested in Gladiolus and no doubt you have wondered how the growers go about producing first class stock for your consumption.

We hope you will become better acquainted with us through this book.

WENTWORTH GARDENS was founded by Mr. M. W. Wentworth in the late twenties and was built around that beautiful

WENONAH (Kinyon, 1940, Exhibition, Salmon Pink, 80 days.)

Mrs. Kinyon's 1940 introduction won great acclaim at the Michigan Gladiolus Show as a seedling, winning the American Home Achievement Award, the Michigan Horticulture Society Medal, the Michigan Gladiolus Society Certificate and was scored highest seedling out of eighty entries. Field tests prove WENONAH to be always straight, spike at correct cutting height and facing and spacing of blooms perfect. The propagation and germination of bulblets is excellent.

The useful bright orange-salmon color is displayed by 10 to 14, four and a half-inch blooms open at a time. The great lasting ability of the florets make it a true Exhibition variety and one that will be widely used for commercial and home decorative work. The introduction price of WENONAH was set low enough so you could have it in your garden.

OTHERS In 1939 Mrs. Kinyon's seedling, EMBLEM OF PURITY, won the Michigan Seedling Award and the American Home Achievement Award. This is a ruffled pure white of decorative size, bloom having 12 to 14 open at a time; her WHITE SPIRE (white), IOSCO (yellow buff), REFLECTION (lavender), are all truly great Gladiolus.

Gladiolus, "Mildred Louise," named for his daughter.

Upon the death of M. W., as he was so well known, his son George took up the business and has carried on.

Since the start of the business it has been moved from the 20-acre farm to a 220-acre farm which has better bulb soil and a greater chance for rotation of crops.

We wish that some time you will find your way to our fields and see our plantings.

EUIDES

(Errey) It seems to me time that this variety became better known to you. The placement, size of bloom, length of spike and beauty all go to make a variety that you will want in your garden. Outstanding other varieties in these same general light color classes were: MATTERHORN, an improvement that cannot be overlooked; WHITE SPIRE, the new tall large blooming pure white; SNOW PRINCESS, the improved Maid of Orleans; EMBLEM of PURITY, the ruffled decorative white; MILADY IMOGENE, a most graceful white; MYRNA, the new cream that is as good as all that is said about it; IOSCO, the new five to six-foot buff-yellow; MISS NEW ZEALAND, a real giant; WENONAH, the 1940 introduction that opens eight to fourteen florets; MARGARET BEATON, the tall white with an attractive vermillion blotch and EDWARD J. SCHEFFER, the new improved mammoth white.

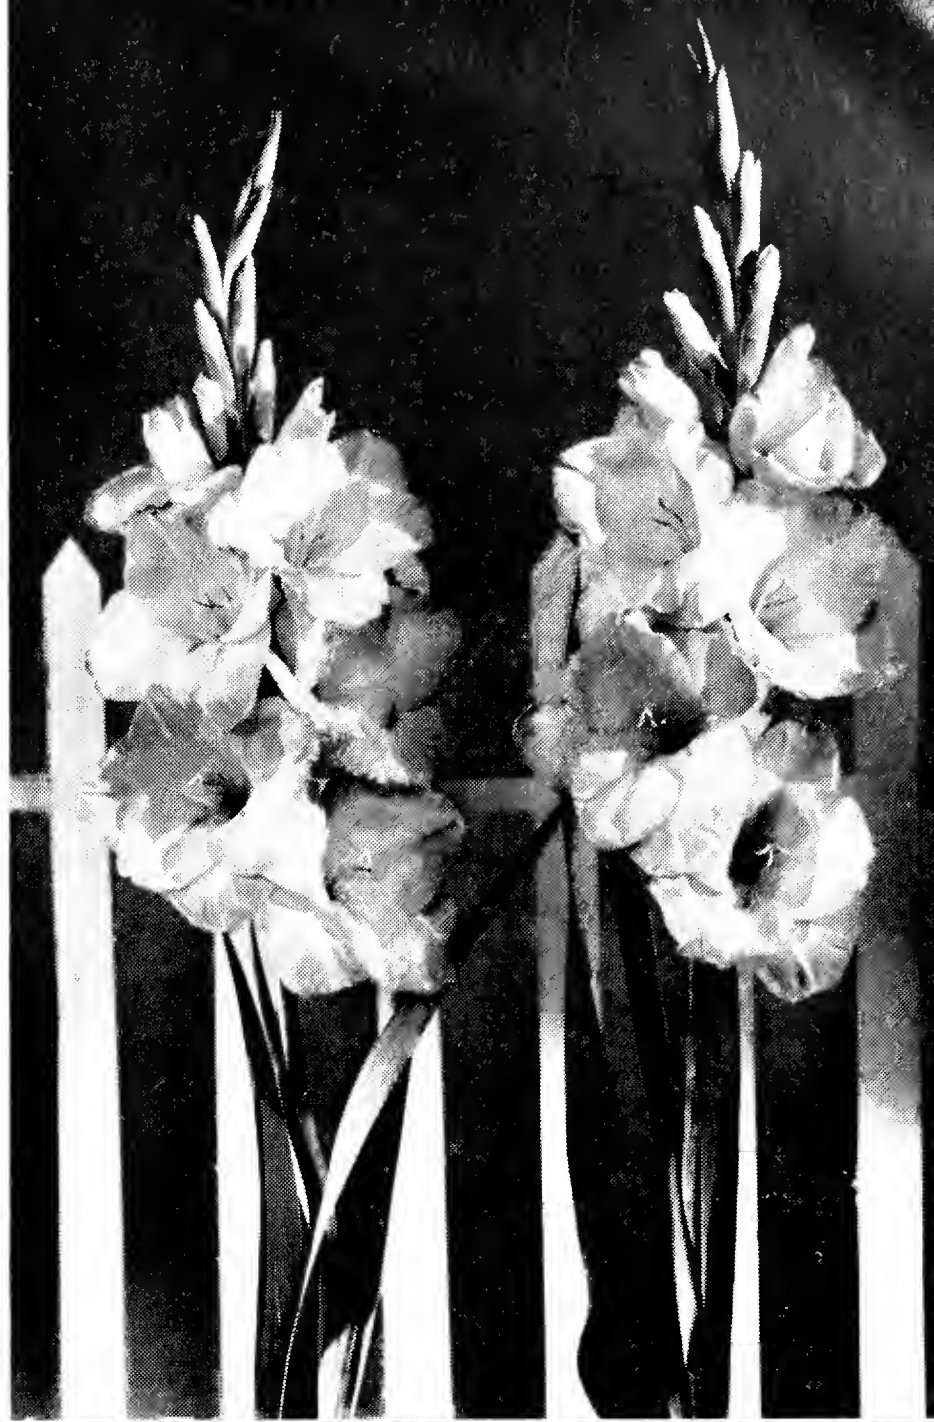

GREEN LIGHT

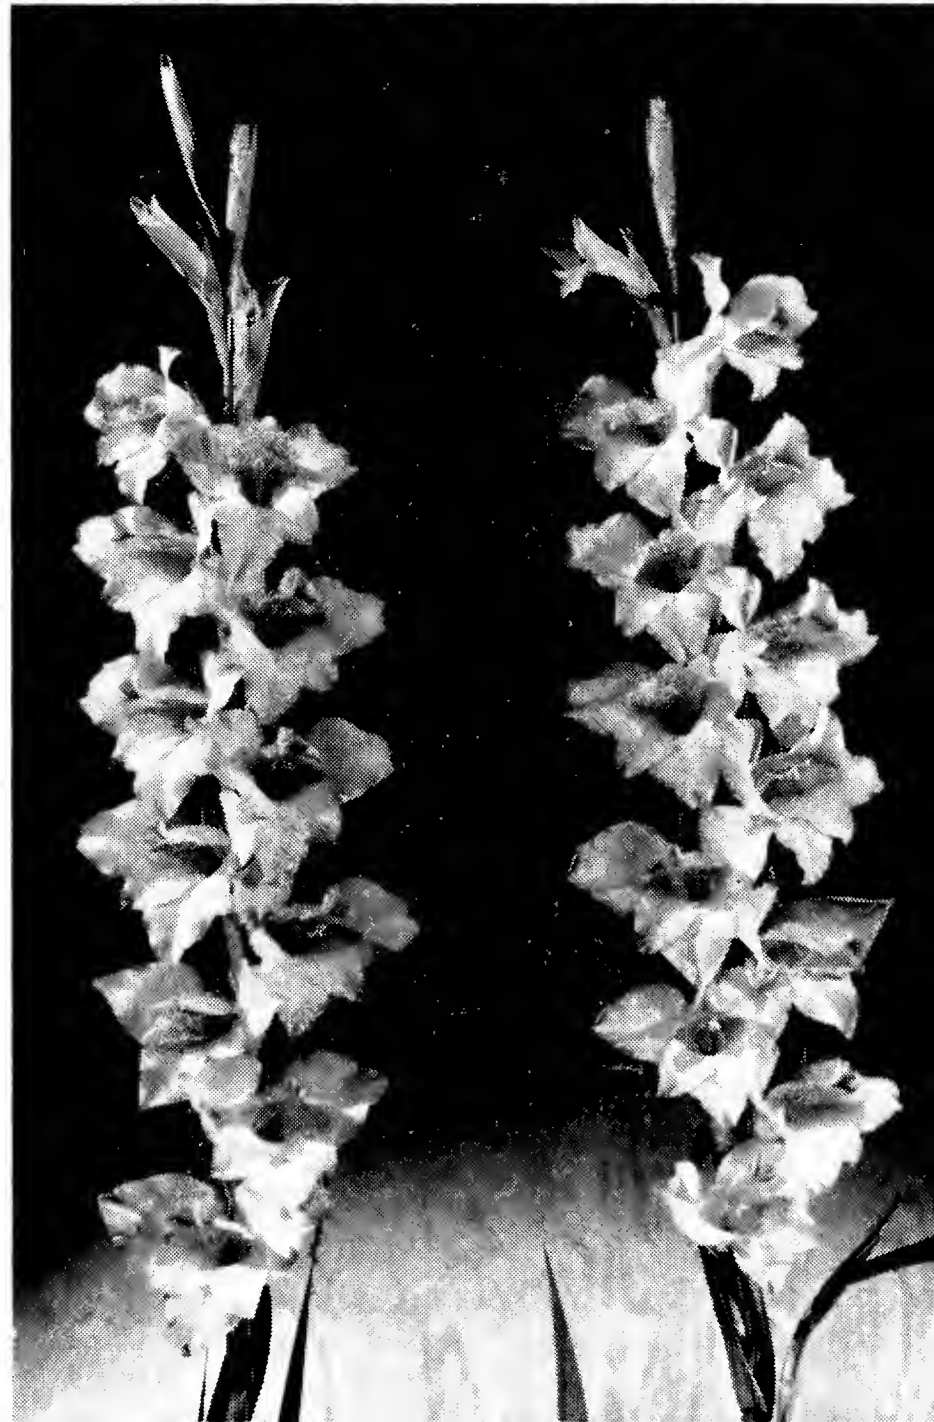

(Pfitzer) To date the true beauty and ability of this one has been questionable. This past summer, with stock grown from our own bulblets, the real beauty and good habits came to the front. The greenish cast is attractive and does add to the beauty. It grows tall and opens six well-placed ruffled florets. The growth from bulblets and small stock was very gratifying. Others that proved exceptional were: ROSA van LIMA, a new one that was so good the price was raised in order that some stock might be saved to build on; NEW ERA, the fluted light pink; PEGGY LOU, the clean, bright improved Picardy; VISTA BONITA, with a five-foot spike and six-inch blooms; BYE-LO, with a very sturdy stem and about fourteen blooms open at a time; ALIGHT, the giant scarlet with many large open blooms; OBERON, the new small, very decorative orange scarlet; J. S. BACH, a brilliant scarlet with a white blotch.

Recommends

VAN TIENHOVEN (Duijn) We had to recommend this one to you because of popular demand and its dependability. Dependability is the main factor we look for in the recommendations we are making. We have bloomed it two years and both years blooms showed exceptional merit. A medium tall variety of a bright clear scarlet. Blooms five inches wide and always well placed. Others we found were: MADRID, the 1940 red (see page No. 2) that is a great Exhibition Gladiolus as well as the much needed commercial red; NANCY ANN, a most beautiful and dependable light rose pink; RIMA, the large blooming soft pale lavender; REFLECTION, the lavender with five-inch blooms and a five-foot spike with six open florets; ALLEGRO, JOSEPH HAYDEN, BLUE BEAUTY, MAX REGER, were all so different and were all too good not to be recommended.

ORANGE BUTTERFLY (Salbach) Even though you might not think you like the small decorative varieties we feel you should see and have this one. Opens twelve or more bronzy orange blooms on a medium tall spike, always in perfect placement. At least try this and one or two other varieties in the small decorative class this coming summer. You will find their use and attractiveness a real treat. Other recommended varieties in all classes are: TYRIAN PRINCESS, a rose-purple and a most decorative color with the ability to bloom fourteen at a time; MAY DAVIDSON, is not new but just has not been brought to your attention. It's a massive blooming variety of bright salmon with a smoky sheen; VAGABOND PRINCE, was most striking and attractive. A garnet-brown with a brilliant scarlet blotch; OGEMAW, the real giant smoky-salmon that grows six feet high and is in proportion in every detail.

How We Listed Them . . . And Why

Please note that the varieties are listed under heading of Color, such as White, Buff, Purple etc., and then each color class is separated under subheads of Exhibition (including gladiolus with 4½" or larger blooms) Decorative (gladiolus with 3 to 4½" florets) and Small Decorative (florets up to 3" in size). We believe this will greatly help you who enter shows with your Glads for now you can select varieties for every class, also it will help those who just grow Gladiolus for fun, in selecting the colors you like best. Do not hesitate to order several in any Color class you might desire, for there are, even in shades of white, great difference in type of bloom and other habits, not forgetting blooming dates

The varieties listed are many, all of them will not appeal to each of you, they are all however gladiolus varieties which are very worthwhile. Every one has been tried and tested in our own field and we have endeavored to give you the faults as well as the good points. Even those which may be faulty in one respect still have something no other Gladiolus can offer.

Wentworth Gardens orders are sent out with a generous count and extras. The extras will be varieties we feel are very good and which you will enjoy seeing bloom this next season.

The best bulbs do not go to the early buyers for any bulb we send out is "best." There may be slight chance we cannot fill your order as listed and if you wish, please give a second choice either as to size or variety.
